Re: Update on Estabrook Environmental Concerns

Date: September 9, 2010

This afternoon, we received preliminary results for nine of the eighteen air samples collected on Monday September 5. In all cases, the PCB levels declined and in some cases they are now below the EPA guidelines.

On Friday, we will receive the remaining air results in time for them to be reviewed at the Advisory Committee meeting, along with the bulk material results and the soil results. By tomorrow evening, Dr. Ash will send you a letter detailing the outcome of the Advisory Committee meeting, including the results from the air, bulk materials, and soil sampling.

Regards,
Pat Goddard
